U.S., Cuba open historic new chapter in post-Cold War ties

(Reuters) – The United States and Cuba quietly ushered in a new era of post-Cold War relations on Monday, formally restoring diplomatic ties severed more than five decades ago and re-establishing embassies in each other's capitals. Just past the stroke of midnight, the two countries reached a new milestone in the historic thaw that began with a breakthrough announcement by U.S. President Barack Obama and Cuban President Raul Castro on Dec. 17. Foreign Minister Bruno Rodriguez will preside around 10:30 a.m. over the raising of the Cuban flag for the first time in 54 years over a mansion that will again serve as Havana's embassy in Washington. The hugely symbolic event will be followed by a meeting at the State Department between Secretary of State John Kerry and Rodriguez, the first Cuban foreign minister on an official visit to Washington since the 1959 Cuban Revolution. While the Cubans hold their ceremony, the U.S. Embassy in Havana will also reopen. But no American flag will fly there until a visit by Kerry expected next month. "We wanted the secretary to be there to oversee these important events," a State Department official said. Differences remain and efforts toward full normalization between the United States and the Communist-ruled island are expected to proceed slowly. Monday's steps culminated more than two years of negotiations between governments that had long shunned each other. More than 500 people will attend the Cubans' festivities in Washington, including members of Congress. No invitations went out to hardline anti-Castro lawmakers. The U.S. delegation will be headed by Assistant Secretary of State Roberta Jacobson.

Scores killed as blast rips through Turkish town near Syria border

(Al Jazeera) – At least 27 people have been killed and nearly 100 hospitalized following an explosion in the southeastern Turkish town of Suruc on the Syrian border, the Interior Ministry in Ankara has said. There was no immediate claim of responsibility for the blast, but an official told the Reuters news agency that "initial evidence" suggests that the assault was a suicide attack carried out by the Islamic State of Iraq and the Levant (ISIL). A representative of a Kurdish party told Al Jazeera that the body of a suicide bomber had been found among the dead. Suruc is just across the border from the Syrian city of Kobane, the scene of fierce battles between Kurdish groups and ISIL. Kobane represented ISIL's biggest defeat last year since it established control over large swathes of Iraq and Syria and has become a symbol of Kurdish resistance against the group. A Kurdish official in Kobane, Idriss Naasan, told The Associated Press that a second bomb went off in the Syrian town, causing minor damage and no casualties. The explosion occurred south of Kobane near a Kurdish militia checkpoint on the road to Syria's largest city of Aleppo. The private Turkish DHA news agency says the blast in Suruc on Monday occurred at a cultural center while a political group was giving a statement to the press on Kobani's reconstruction. News reports said 300 people from the Federation of Socialist Youths association were staying at the cultural center and were preparing to travel to Kobane to help with the rebuilding. Kobane was also the scene of surprise ISIL attacks last month that killed more than 200 people.

SITUATION SUMMARY

Bridge Collapse, Desert Center, Riverside County

A bridge over a small wash under the freeway was undermined and collapsed at the Hillock Ditch, eastbound I-10 mile marker 100.676, approximately 1 mile west of Eagle Mountain Road exit due to heavy rainfall in the area.

Per Cal OES Duty Officers, one vehicle went over the side with one occupant trapped in the vehicle. Riverside County Fire Department/CAL FIRE extracted the occupant and has transported via ground ambulance with moderate injuries.

Per Caltrans: The collapse occurred on east bound section of the bridge, however, west bound is severely undermined and unsafe to travel on. Both directions of the freeway have been closed indefinitely until repairs can be completed.

CHP has established the following alternate routes:

Eastbound: Interstate 10 to eastbound State Route 62 to southbound State Route 177 to eastbound Interstate 10.

Westbound: Interstate 10 to northbound State Route 177 to westbound State Route 62 to westbound Interstate 10.

There are no requests for assistance or unmet needs at this time.

Proclamation, Kern County

Kern County has submitted a proclamation due to hazardous conditions created by a series of wide spread, slow moving thunderstorms throughout the County requesting a Governor's concurrence and Presidential Declaration.

Cal EOC Incident – 2014 Drought

- SOC / Inland REOC remains activated in support of 2014 Drought

Weather of Concern

Widespread Flash Flood Watches throughout the Western Sierra slopes down through Central and Southern California have been issued.

Remnant moisture from former Hurricane Dolores is spreading into North California today through Tuesday. This will bring showers and thunderstorms over the mountains and potentially even into the Valley. Northern San Joaquin Valley locations may see some precipitation overnight, with a slight chance spreading northward across the area late Monday. Some mountain thunderstorms may linger through Tuesday. Dry and relatively cool weather expected from mid-week on.

Fire Weather Watch in effect from Tuesday afternoon through Tuesday evening for areas in Siskiyou and Modoc Counties.

Active Weather Warnings, Watches and Advisories by County:

http://www.wrh.noaa.gov/sto/brief/wwa_bc_cal.php

SITUATION SUMMARY

Significant Weather – Inland and Southern Regions:

Kern County – Has submitted a proclamation due to hazardous conditions created by a series of wide spread, slow moving thunderstorms throughout the County. Authorities are currently utilizing law enforcement and fire helicopters to perform several hoist rescues including 3 Firefighters from their engine that became inundated by flood waters.

Kern County has two active shelters: Frazier Mountain Park Elementary School (Frazier Park area) and Jacobsen Middle School (Tehachapi area), with a third set up and ready for activation as needed (United Methodist Church in Kernville). Widespread mud/debris and water flow impacting numerous roads and highways. Reports of residents stranded on rooftops in the Walker Basin area. Other areas heavily impacted include the Grapevine and Tehachapi.

Approximately 20 firefighters and their fire apparatus are having to spend the night in the Tejon Ranch area after becoming isolated by floodwaters while they were extinguishing an earlier wildfire.

Right now, heaviest precipitation is expected in the western portion of the County, expected to hit shortly, so no reports of damage or response for that area yet. Several road closures (Hwy 58, Hwy 202), Grapevine is included in Flash Flood Warning Area, but remains open as of now. Several local roads closed which has resulted in isolated communities.

Los Angeles County -- Los Angeles County, per the Los Angeles County OEM Duty Officer, they have nothing to report at this time. LA has reached out to the Sheriff's Department, cities in the burn areas, flash flood areas and has nothing to report. The Duty Officer is monitoring the situation.

Los Angeles Public Works people are in the field ready to address issues that may arise. La Canada area has minor flooding with one home with significant water damage.

Lancaster area has three homes needing sandbagging and water diversion, minor damage. Currently working an incident in the Glendale Mountain/East fork area, 2 persons stranded due to road washout at Camp Williams (non-rescue).

Orange County -- Activated their EOC to a Level I at 1945 hours. As of 2318 hours, Orange County EOC has deactivated. There is debris flow in the burn scar area. Silverado Road has been opened to residents only and conditions in the Canyon have stabilized. There are no emergency management related unmet needs at this time. The Orange County Debris Flow Unified Command is in place at the Incident Command Post. As of 2145 hours, OC Public Works is managing the cleanup of three active debris flows areas in Silverado Canyon and two active flooding situations in Modjeska Canyon. Four AlertOC messages have been sent to the canyon community to advise of the Flash Flood Warning, road closures, and the community center availability. A final message was sent advising residents that the area has been opened to residents only and crews will be working to continue cleanup efforts.

SITUATION SUMMARY

Significant Weather – Inland and Southern Regions:

Riverside County -- Zuzzette Bricker, Riverside County EMD confirmed there are no emergency management related unmet needs at this time.

CHP and Caltrans are working on road closures and re-routing of I-10 due to the washout of a bridge on the Eastbound side, 1 mile west of Eagle Mountain Road. One vehicle went over the side with one occupant trapped in the vehicle. Riverside County Fire Department/CAL FIRE extracted the occupant and has transported via ground ambulance with moderate injuries. The collapse occurred on east bound section of the bridge, however, west bound is severely undermined and unsafe to travel on Caltrans personnel on scene are turning traffic around on both sides of the roadway. Both directions of the freeway have been closed indefinitely until repairs can be completed. CHP has established alternate routes until repairs can be complete.

Moreno Valley, 6 homes damaged by a mudslide. 2 hand crews are helping with sandbagging. Evan Brown Mortuary structural damage and power outage. The OA coordinated with several issue including refrigeration assistance. The Coroner's Office moved approximately 20 bodies to another location in Murietta.

Highway 74 – Good Hope Area trees down, 5 power poles fell across Highway 74. The poles have been removed and traffic is moving in both directions. Corona Homeless Encampment –swift water rescue for 4 homeless persons. The rescue was successful. The OA anticipates reporting much more damage in the morning. The are discussing the possibility of a local proclamation.

San Luis Obispo County -- PG&E previously reported there were 221 power outages affecting almost 13,000 customers, with some areas having prolonged outages. This caused some retail stores to close due to lack of power, a number of local radio stations seemed to be off the air at one point or another, traffic lights were out including key intersections on California Highway 1 between San Luis Obispo and Morro Bay, but also countywide.

There were many road and intersections flooded. Flood waters and mud had covered some roads causing problems. There were a number of mud issues on roads in downtown Paso Robles, with some mud getting into a small portion of the Paso Robles Event Center (fairgrounds) just as preparations are under way for the opening of the California Mid-State Fair on July 22. Clean up efforts are under way or complete at these and other locations, including a Union Pacific railroad crossing in Paso Robles. County Roads crews and Caltrans were out all over the county today. Record breaking rainfall amounts are reported to have occurred, with the highest for the storm being 3.55" at a location in Paso Robles. San Luis Obispo County Airport received .83", Camp San Luis 1.06", an area west of Atascadero received 1.42" Diablo Canyon 1.03", Templeton 1.93", and Cambria 1.34" Overall, the totals within San Luis Obispo County ranged from a low of .2" to the high of 3.55". County OES remained and does remain on duty officer status.

San Diego County - Has nothing to report at this time.

WEATHER

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION:

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA AND CENTRAL COASTAL AREAS:

Eureka Weather:

Increasing moisture will lead to isolated showers or thunderstorms over interior Mendocino and southern Trinity counties this afternoon. Better chances for showers and thunderstorms are expected Monday afternoon over the interior mountains. Mostly dry conditions are anticipated for the rest of the upcoming week.

Medford Weather:

Today will feature one more round of warm temperatures across inland portions with readings expected to peak this afternoon about 5 degrees above normal values.

Reno Weather:

Low pressure off the California coast continues to pull moisture north into the Eastern Sierras. Rain showers are likely through Tuesday. Localized flash flooding will be possible on Tuesday with thunderstorms posing a severe threat by Wednesday. By Thursday southwest flow will bring a drying trend for the remainder of the week.

San Francisco Weather:

Warm and humid weather will continue today. Tropical moisture from Dolores remains over central and southern California which means a continued chance of showers and thunderstorms through tonight. Precipitation chances will be greater the further south. Dry weather will return on Tuesday along with cooler conditions near the coast. Dry and mild weather is then forecast for the remainder of the week and into the weekend.

WEATHER

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION:

CENTRAL CALIFORNIA AND SOUTHERN SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY:

Sacramento Weather:

Near normal temperatures continue today, with gradual cooling later this week. Remnants from Dolores will bring a chance of showers and thunderstorms through Tuesday.

Hanford Weather:

Tropical moisture will continue flowing from the south through the remainder of today. As a result, there will remain a chance of showers and thunderstorms through this evening. A drying trend and a return to summer like temperatures is expected by mid-week as the tropical moisture gets pushed out.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA:

Los Angeles Weather:

Moisture from Tropical Storm Dolores will bring warm and humid conditions today along with plenty of clouds and scattered thunderstorms. Less humid conditions will return by mid-week as the tropical air mass moves east with temperatures near seasonal norms through the end of the week.

Extreme Southwestern California including Orange, San Diego, Western Riverside and Southwestern San Bernardino Counties:

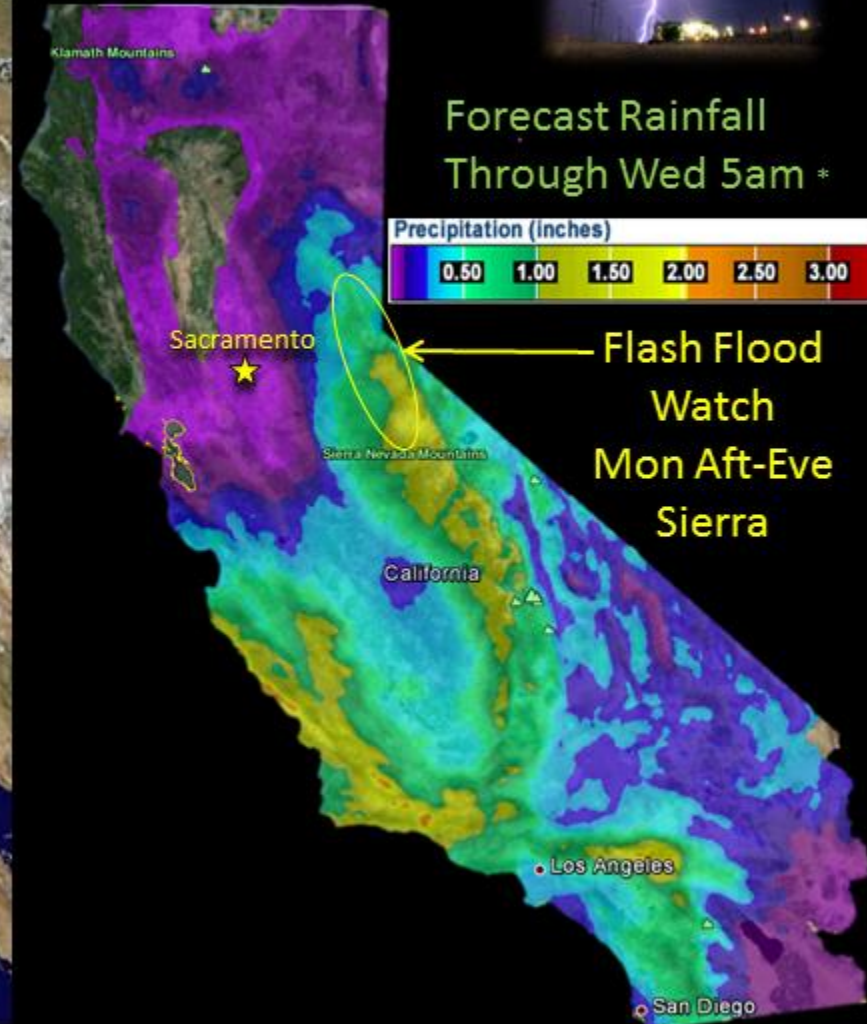

Scattered showers and isolated thunderstorms will decrease from the south early this morning. There is a chance of thunderstorms for this afternoon, mainly over the mountains and upper deserts. There is a slight chance of thunderstorms Tuesday afternoon for the mountains of San Bernardino and Riverside counties. Moisture from the remnants of Former Hurricane Dolores will decrease the next few days with high temperatures remaining a little below average for inland and a little above average for coastal areas.

Southeast California Weather:

A gradual drying and warming trend will commence today across southeast California with only a few mountain showers and thunderstorms expected. Along with the drier air will come elevated temperatures with highs approaching the 110 degree mark for the lower deserts by the weekend with cooler conditions near the coast. Dry and mild weather is then forecast for the remainder of the week and into the weekend.
